"The Catcher in the Rye" is a novel written by J.D. Salinger and first published in 1951. It is a coming-of-age story narrated by Holden Caulfield, a disillusioned and alienated teenager who has been expelled from prep school. It explores themes of alienation, identity, and the loss of innocence. Through the voice of its protagonist, Holden Caulfield, the novel provides a candid and often cynical portrayal of adolescence and the challenges of growing up in a society that Holden perceives as phoney and superficial. The narrative is marked by his struggles with identity and belonging, as well as his yearning for authenticity and connection in a world he views as corrupt and hypocritical.
